

Michael Burlingame

Michael Burlingame holds the Chancellor Naomi B. Lynn Distinguished Chair in Lincoln Studies at the University of Illinois Springfield. He joined the faculty of the History Department at UIS in 2009, where he teaches a course on Abraham Lincoln and a course on the Civil War. He is the author of The Inner World of Abraham Lincoln (1994), An Oral History of Abraham Lincoln (1996), and the comprehensive, two-volume biography, Abraham Lincoln: A Life (2008), which won the 2010 Lincoln Prize, the 2009 Russell P. Strange award from the Illinois State Historical Society for the best book on Illinois history, and was listed as one of the five best books of 2009 by The Atlantic. His most recent books are Lincoln and the Civil War (2011) and A Day Long to be Remembered: Lincoln in Gettysburg (with Robert Shaw, 2013). He has edited and published a dozen volumes of primary source materials on Lincoln and his era. He recently finished editing Lincoln as President-in-Waiting: The Springfield Dispatches of Henry Villard, November 1860-February 1861. Dr. Burlingame taught History at Connecticut College from 1968 to 2001, when he retired as the Buckley Sadowski Professor of History Emeritus. He studied under eminent Lincoln historian David Herbert Donald, both at Princeton University and Johns Hopkins University where he received his Ph.D. in 1971.
