Meeting Spaces

The meeting spaces at Allerton Retreat Center feature quarter-sawn oak flooring, textile rugs, antique wood paneling, carved-wood ceilings, and expansive paned windows that capture natural light while offering pastoral country views. We have several different meeting spaces to choose from, each offering a unique and inviting setting. Several types of technology are available to suit your needs, including audiovisual equipment (LCD projectors and screens), wireless Internet, satellite uplink/downlink, a video-conferencing system, and more.

Oak Room—offers a large round meeting table and French doors that invite morning light from the east terrace

Pine Room—perfect for boardroom-style meetings with its long, rectangular table and large bay window overlooking the pond

Butternut Room—ideal for small group discussion with a large upholstered window seat, comfortable armchairs, and a sofa

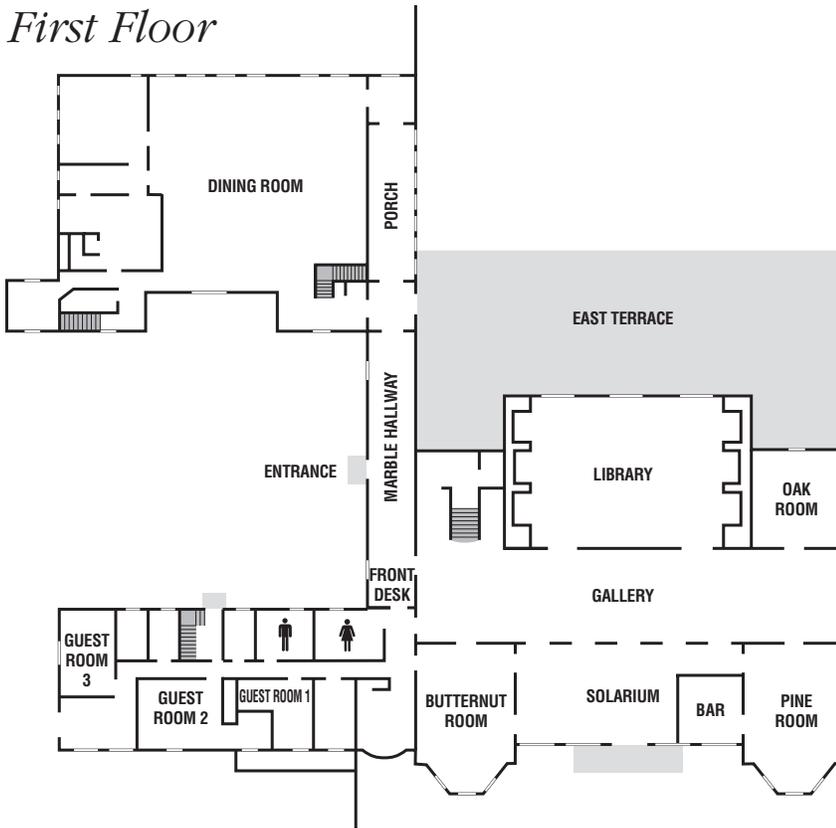

Solarium—casual atmosphere for meeting or socializing with a picturesque view of the meadow and reflecting pond

Library—two-stories of grand open space, lined with books, with doors that open to the east terrace

Gallery—open, spacious, and elegantly furnished for social hours with French doors that open onto the bowling terrace; can also be arranged with formal seating for receptions or live entertainment
