The Top Five

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: A Life

By Michael Burlingame

JOHNS HOPKINS

Measured, psychologically astute, authoritative when it can be, Michael Burlingame's exhaustive narrative (2,024 pages!) is unafraid of ambiguity and indeterminacy. This is the life of Lincoln for our times.

THE CHILDREN'S BOOK: A Novel

By A. S. Byatt

KNOPF

Byatt has wrought a richly detailed, decade-spanning, at once Olympian and pointillist masterpiece. To read this gorgeous bolt of fiction is to fully enter a world.

THE THIRD REICH TRILOGY (Concluding With The Third Reich at War)

By Richard J. Evans

PENGUIN

Evans's cool, crisply argued three-volume chronicle will be for a generation the definitive general history of Nazi Germany in English.

IT'S BEGINNING TO HURT: Stories

By James Lasdun

FSG

This collection of short stories illuminates the everyday agonies of the mind, its anxieties, obsessions, doubts, and yearnings. Lasdun pins each observation to the page with grace and exactitude.

MRS. WOOLF AND THE SERVANTS: An Intimate History of Domestic Life in Bloomsbury

By Alison Light

BLOOMSBURY

In her elegant, sparkling book, Light marries social and literary criticism as she probes the deeply intimate, often sordid, always fraught relationship between women servants and their female employers.
