1. Hey y'all

2. How 2 Proposal (Richard)
   a. Richard presented sheets on programming. For those students not present at the meeting, there are extra copies of the sheets (outlining expectations, what should be in the PowerPoints, etc, in Richard's mailbox in the office. If you have questions pertaining to Proposal Night, ask your mentors. For those of you who don't remember, here is the mentor breakdown:

   Kelsey – Film, Off Campus and Travel, Marketing, Student Talent
   Richard – Education & Personal Growth, Coffeehouse, Spirit
   Matt – Traditions, Comedy, Performance, Special Events

   Final proposals are due on December 6th (Friday) at 6PM. Proposal night is at 6PM on the 8th (Sunday) in the Great Room (LRH).

   b. Kelsey presented an updated budget. After reconciling several receipts and calculating actual cost vs. projected cost, the budget still has about 300 dollars left for the semester. If you have any last minute proposals, remember that they need to be submitted two weeks in advance. Student Talent and Performance’s event of UIS Got Talent got approved. Please solicit invitations from your friends and peers to compete, as there are prizes involved.

   c. Beth brought up the fact that equipment has not been being checked out or reserved in advance by SAC for events. As you are planning for next semester, talk to the front desk worker at SOC to reserve equipment for an event (or submit the equipment reservation form online). Additionally, ensure that you are filling out the reservation paperwork and physically checking out the equipment on the day of the event.

   d. Samia invited students on Monday at 12PM noon and 5:30PM as well as Tuesday at 9PM to the UIS Nickname Task Force meeting where the force is soliciting opinions for the new proposed nicknames (as well as the old one).

3. Events
   a. I <3 SAC – Tuesday, November 12 @ 9pm (Kylie)
      The general consensus of the event is that it was a success. There was a large amount of unique students coming (Kylie projected about 100), but we still had questions about the event that we took away as opportunities for the event next time. The purpose of the event, expectations for coordinators, and tone of coordinators should be considered going forward, as all were generally agreed upon by the SAC body as potential opportunities.
b. Savannah Outen – Thursday, November 14 @ 9pm (Paige) (Paige not present)

c. We’re the Millers – Friday, November 15 @ 9pm (Brandon & Brandon) Coordinators that attended said it was well attended, but Kelsey did not have a guess on number of performers. The day after, Mary noted that the place was still dirty from popcorn (which we need to be careful about as food in that space is a privilege).

4. NACA Re-Cap

   a. In a brief synopsis, Kylie, Aretha, Gella, and Katie presented on NACA. In addition to the educational sessions on rebranding organizations and surveys, a 4/7 block was booked for Nick Howard (Coffeehouse) as well as Emily Hearn (Coffeehouse) for April 25th. Caroline Rothstein, a slam poet, was discussed as an option for Ed and Personal Growth, as well as Janet Adams, a speaker on debt, and the Black Jew Dialogues.
