General description of business
SIU School of Medicine is an academic medical institution. Our mission is to assist the people of central and southern Illinois in meeting their health care needs through education, research, patient care and community service.

Internship or Job Description
Research Internship. This internship will provide hands on experience with the planning and execution of experimental procedures in the area of biology of aging research. Interns are expected to be fully engaged in the research and will be given time to read and understand the field of research. To the extent possible, their contribution will be acknowledged by co-authorship on abstracts, research papers, and review articles.

Basic student learning anticipated
Interns will be provided broad experiences in biomedical research and laboratory functioning. They will work closely with an experienced principal investigator and his laboratory team to explore/extend current research projects. Level of independence will be contingent on satisfactory progress, adherence to laboratory rules/regulations, attitude, and effort shown in the project.
