

STUDENT CONDUCT CODE
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS SPRINGFIELD
STUDENTS RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Article I: Nature of the Code

The purpose of the Student Conduct Code is to uphold community standards, maintain personal accountability, and encourage student learning. By codifying the above set of values, the Student Conduct Code establishes the core set of expectations for students and provides the mechanisms to encourage students to uphold UIS' values and to communicate a set of student rights and responsibilities. The Student Conduct Code is intended to be educational and non- adversarial in nature to promote student development of responsible conduct and actions. As the Student Conduct Code is less formal than a court of law, many cases will be handled through informal proceedings that fulfill UIS educational mission and values. The standards and procedures in the Student Conduct Code differ substantially from the criminal justice system in scope and purpose and do not replace State or Federal criminal laws or procedures. For actions which violate both the Student Conduct Code and State or Federal law, students may be held accountable through both University and law enforcement channels. The procedures and sanctions of the Student Conduct Code may proceed during pending criminal proceedings and are not limited by any criminal charges that have been filed, reduced, or dismissed.

Article II: Jurisdiction

UIS may initiate disciplinary action against students and student organizations for conduct occurring in other settings, including off-campus and the internet, to protect the safety of students, faculty, staff, visitors, and other stakeholders or if there are effects of the conduct that interfere with or limit students' ability to participate in or benefit from the University's educational programs or activities.

The Student Conduct Code applies to:

1. Conduct occurring on any property controlled, operated, owned, or leased by the University.
2. Conduct occurring while using University-owned, leased or rented vehicles, or vehicles leased with student-appropriated funds.
3. Certain conduct occurring off-campus with a connection to the University, including:
 - a. events and meetings sponsored by the University or University- recognized student organizations;
 - b. meetings or events where students represent the University or University-recognized student organizations;
 - c. practicums, internships, student field trips, student teaching, clinical settings, extension centers, independent study settings, and University study and travel abroad settings;
 - d. all actions that violate any of the laws or Conduct Rules and Regulations cited below and that substantially affect the University Community's interest, even though such actions do not occur on University premises or property (for further information about the criteria used in determining the kinds of conduct covered by this jurisdiction, see LINK).

Article III: Statement on Student Rights

Students at the University of Illinois Springfield are entitled to rights afforded to them under the United States Constitution, the Illinois State Constitution, and other applicable Federal and State laws. Within the Student Conduct process at the University of Illinois Springfield, students are guaranteed the following rights:

1. The right to be presumed not responsible for policy violations, unless proceedings of the hearing prove otherwise.
2. The right to notice of alleged misconduct.
3. The right to respond to allegations of misconduct through a fair and impartial hearing. The student may testify at their discretion; a decision not to testify will not be held against the student.
4. The right to have one advisor present during a hearing. The advisor may be an attorney, but the cost of representation shall be at the accused's expense. The advisor may not participate in the hearing process. The advisor may quietly advise the party.

Proceedings under this Student Conduct Code may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with, or following civil or criminal proceedings off campus at the discretion of the Dean of Students. Determinations made or sanctions imposed under this Student Conduct Code shall not be subject to change because criminal charges arising out of the same facts giving rise to violation of University rules were dismissed, reduced, or resolved in favor of or against the criminal law defendant.
2. When a student is charged by Federal, State, or local authorities with a violation of law, the University will not request or agree to special consideration for that individual because of their status as a student. If the alleged offense is also being processed under the Student Conduct Code, the University may advise off-campus authorities of the existence of the Student Conduct Code and of how such matters are typically handled within the University community. The University will attempt to cooperate with law enforcement and other agencies in the enforcement of criminal law on campus and in the conditions imposed by criminal courts for the rehabilitation of student violators (provided that the conditions do not conflict with campus rules or sanctions). Individual students and other members of the University community, acting in their personal capacities, remain free to interact with governmental representatives as they deem appropriate.

Witnesses will provide information to and answer questions from the Student Conduct Hearing Panel. Questions may be suggested by the Respondent and/or Complainant to be answered by each other or by other witnesses.
